A special feature in the parade will be the Elks drill team of Sacramento, which won the national prize last year.

GODDESS ELEANOR CHOSEN

Miss Eleanor Schreiber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Schreiber, an entrant from the Nugget office, was selected Tuesday evening from a lucky thirteen group of beautiful young ladies, to be Goddess of Liberty for the Fourth of July celebration.

Those entering their names were Misses Phyllis Horn, Eleanor Schreiber, Clarice Holland, Violet Allen, Virginia Day, Esther Tremaine, Mrs. Howard Penrose, Fern Rockfeller, Maurine Perry, Gertrude Sawyer, Cecelia Genasci, and Alice Peard.

Attorney Frank G. Finnegan, chairman of the Fourth committee, presided at the meeting. Fred Conner was present and suggested cleaning up the "burnt district" for parking cars. The auto park is to be used also. Boy Scouts are to clean up the two parking places.

MUSIC

The music committee has secured the Nevada City and Grass Valley bands and Bert Chegwidden, president of the Grass Valley Chamber of Commerce, stated possibly the Grass Valley concert band could be secured. An eight-piece orchestra has been secured for the big dance to be held in floor is being put in shape this week. Red Men's grove in the evening. The

The finance committee reported that nearly all of the $650 pledged was already in.

There is to be a final meeting of the committees this evening.

A special request is being made that all persons refrain from setting off firecrackers or fireworks during the parade on the Fourth, as there are to be a number of horses and if frightened, may cause serious injury to persons and damage to property.

ALLEGED DRUNKEN DRIVER MUST ANSWER

Robert Wear, of Grass Valley, was arrested on Monday by Traffic Officer Will Fouyer for alleged drunken driving. The arrest was made in front of the Nevada County Golf course. He was held to answer in Judge Mobley's justice court on Wednesday. Through attorney Harry McKee, he waived preliminary examination Wednesday. Bail was fixed at 1,000 cash or $2,000 property security. Assistant District Attorney Robert Tharp was the prosecutor. Tharp was a busy man Wednesday morning, putting through two preliminary hearings in one hour. One, People vs. Wyatt in Grass Valley and the other, People vs. Wear in Nevada City.

FOREST RANGER HAS CLOSE LIGHTNING CALL

Exerpts from a letter received by Mrs. Ed Martine from her brother, Murray Pryor, who is at Blue Canyon Ranger Station, near Emigrant Gap, tells of the storm in that section Monday evening.

"Jack Metz, my trail partner, and I have just experienced what we believe to have been a pretty close call. We have just been in the middle of a violent electrical storm, a real pyrotechnical display! Both of us were in the house. Lightening bolts and flashes came so close to the building that the flare was violet in color. The thunder shook the house like an earthquake. The fifth real close hit blew the fuse on the Forest Service phone. My partner had gotten out of bed and was in the middle of the floor even though I had suggested he remain in bed. When the fuse went out his feet were glued to the floor."

"A few days ago I notified a sheepman, Mr. Sanford, that he had a band of 14 strayed sheep in our neighborhood. Coyotes were at the time cutting sheep out of the main band and killing them. One coyote could easily have killed the 14 in a night. The owner was very grateful and gave us a leg of mutton to show his appreciation."

Dick Gregory and Bob Farmer, Cub Scouts, are leaving Sunday for their summer vacation at Camp Pahatsi.

GIRLS WANTED—48 OF THEM, FOR JULY 4TH.

A parade of the States, 48 sisters, in individual costumes is promised, if girls of Nevada City will volunteer to wear them in the great procession next Wednesday, July Fourth.

Mesdames Lyda Talbot and Robert Grant have undertaken to provide this beautiful feature for the Fourth of July parade, provided the girls (any age, any size) will volunteer to march.

This committee has issued a call for all girls who would like to impersonate one of the States of the Union in the Fourth's parade, to meet them at one o'clock, tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon, at the Chamber of Commerce.

SCOUT CUBS OFF TO CAMP SUNDAY

Next Sunday will be a big day in the lives of 55 nine, ten and eleven year old Cubs, of the Boy Scouts of America, of Placer and Nevada counties, when they report at 2 p. m., at the Lodge at Camp Pahatsi to start their weeks camping on Kilborn Lake. Many new experiences will be met during the week by the Cubs and the 20 odd staff members who will be on hand to see to the comfort, safety and happiness of the campers. Apparently over 50 per cent of the Tahoe Area Council Cub membership will "raise" their voices in good times had in camping, nature experiences, boating, swimming, and games of all sorts, bachelor cooking, fishing and how to be a Cub.

A doctor will be in camp to place a stamp of approval on all activities and to check parents special physical requests as noted on the health history sheets each Cub will fill out 48 hours prior to leaving for camp.

The camp staff will be made up of Scout Executive Harris Ricksecker, Camp Director, Cubmasters Fred Knudsen, Cliff Merriam, F. W. Day and Charles Eachman; Dr. M. S. Briner; Cook, Mrs. A. Dalboy; Assistant Scoutmasters Fred Stephen and Sam Partridge; water front, Capt. C. Schuster; Campfire, Elwyn Gregory; nature, Bob Robinson of Roseville; Eagle Scouts, Virgil Harden, Vincent Brundage, Jack Gordon and Jack Schultz Ben Ramsey; Den Chiefs, J. Howell, W. Cluff and Ken Reynolds.

On the evening of July Fourth, the Cubs will contribute to the evenings entertainment with each Cub setting off his fireworks from the float in the middle of the lake. No firecrackers or skyrockets are permitted.

Visitors will be welcome in camp on July Fourth and Sundays. The campers will rise at 7:30 a. m., have breakfast at 8:05, dinner at noon followed by a story hour, campfire at 7:30 p. m., and taps at 9:15. The balance of each days activities will be different.

HUGHES MINE BALL MILL IS RECONDITIONED

Reconditioning of the ball mill at the Hughes mine, near Downieville, has been completed and the company expects to have electricity cut into the property in a few days. The tunnel is in 200 feet. Four or five cross-cuts have been driven on the vein to test the ore. In a couple of weeks the company plans to put on three shifts, five men to the shift.

MAY REOPEN MACK MINE

Report comes from Los Angeles that Bruce Wallace will open the Mack mine in the Canada Hill district which has been closed for the winter months. The shaft is already down 125 feet. The property promises good production.

LUTHER MARSH TO COMMAND AMER. LEGION

Luther Marsh, of Nevada City, has been chosen commander of Hague-Thomas-Hegarty Post No. 130, American Legion, following the annual election, which was held Tuesday night at the Veterans Memorial Building in Grass Valley. Marsh will succeed the present commander, Ed. R. Burtner.

Other officers elected at the meeting were: Edgar Bowden, first vice commander; Morris Smith, second vice commander; Jack Clary, finance officer; Wesley Peck, sergeant at arms; Henry Spiess, chaplain; James Oliver, historian; Stanley Woolcock, service officer; Vernon Coplantz, color bearer.

Executive committee: J. Chambliss, Ben Jenkins, Andrew Tobiassen, Jack Nettell, Howard Bennetts and Alva Hooper. Convention delegates: Jack Clary, Edgar Bowden, Wesley Peck, Luther Marsh and Stanley Woolcock; alternates, Loyle Freeman, Ed Burtner, U. M. Lotz, Fred Jost, Eugene Chester.

HOGE MINE OPENS NEW ORE BODY

The Hoge Development company, which recently opened up a new vein on the contact east of the main shaft on the 1200 foot level, is continuing its development.

The mill is operating on ore being mined and taken out in development work. Twenty men are employed in the mill and mine. Arthur Hoge Sr., is in charge of the property.

GOVE CELIO HITS FAST PACE IN CAR SALES

Gove Celio, of the Plaza Garage, distributor of Chevrolets and Oldsmobiles, almost equaled the record he made early in the season in sales of Chevrolet cars, when during the past two weeks he chalked up deliveries of the following new cars:

New Chevrolet coupe to Joe Major, of Grass Valley, new Chevrolet coupe to James Liva of Nevada City, new Oldsmobile sedan to Melvin Tamby of Nevada City, new Oldsmobile coupe to Ronald Muscardi of Grass Valley, new Oldsmobile sedan to B. Banterman of Grass Valley, new Oldsmobile sedan to Lynne Wright of Nevada City.

LAVA CAP MILLS 125 TONS OF ORE DAILY

The Lava Cap mill is hauling 125 tons of ore per day.

The company will start Monday sinking the main Central shaft to the 1200 foot level.

Eighty-five men are employed under O. E. Schiffner, superintendent.

DEAF INDIAN QUIETS THE THUNDER SCARED

The severe electrical storm of last Monday night scared aged Indian Josie, out at the Indian Campoodie, nearly to death. She is 90 years old and has experienced much in the way of the storms and stresses of life but never such cannonading of celestial artillery so close at hand.

Indian Louie, totally deaf, was finally called in to quiet and comfort the campoodie's matrarch. While all nature rumbled and cracked and lightning jigsawed the sky, Indian Louie, impervious to sound, proved the only one in the tribe, able to steady the nerves of the ancient Josie.

California To Vote On Four Measures To Speed Up Justice

California is foremost among the states which are making a determined effort to reduce crime within state borders. This effort is in two directions, one dealing with greater effectiveness by all peace officers by co-ordinating their efforts to apprehend criminals, and the other, overhauling the mechanism of the courts so that they move expeditiously and efficiently in meting out justice.

Four initiative measures to be voted on at the November election are contained in the program which is designed to curb crime by correcting present cumbersome methods of law enforcement, and to lift the huge burden of taxation which crime places upon the shoulders of California tax payers. It is worth noting in this respect that California ranks twelfth among the states, in criminal records.

This program aimed at better law enforcement in California is a result of months of study on the part of many organizations, during which the California State Chamber of Commerce has actted as a co-ordinating body in getting together best informed statewide groups interested in this critical problem. Organizations whose representatives have participated in these conferences include the Committee on Administration of Justice of the State Bar Association, Commonwealth Club of California, California Federation of Women's Clubs, California League of Women Voters, the San Jose Committee, representatives of the press of California, and many judges, State and civic officials, and various other groups and individuals, all seeking an improvement over present conditions.

These are the four measures which these great state organizations have determined to submit to the electorate this fall:

1. Appointment of Judges, subject to confirmation and a vote of approval or disapproval.

2. Co-ordination of state law enforcing agencies.

3. Permitting Judges to comment on evidence and the failure of accused to testify.

4. Permitting accused to plead guilty before committing magistrate (capital cases excepted) when represented by attorney.

Under "appointment of judges," each county will be given an opportunity to adopt or reject this provision. Justices of the Supreme and Appelate courts will, however, be appointed by a commission consisting of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, Presiding Justice of the District Court of Appeals, and the Attorney General. These appointments, having been made, would be subject to a vote of approval of the electorate after they were made. The same system would apply to the counties providd they adopted it at any general election.

Co-ordinating the efforts of all peace officers in the state in detecting and apprehending criminals, requires a co-ordinating head. The second measure provides simply that the Attorney General shall be that head and shall be given power to make his direction effective.

The third measures deals with the refusal of accused persons to testify and provides that in such cases, judges shall be permitted to comment on such refusals. Under the constitution, no accused person can be compelled to testify but under the proposed initiatory measure, guilty persons could no longer take refuge behind "this shield of silence." The judge could at least comment on the failure to testify.

Probably three-fourths of all guilty persons actually plead guilty when they finally appear before a Superior judge. In the meantime, however, weeks and often months have elapsed before they finally have an opportunity to do so, and the time of peace officers, the district attorney's office and the defendant himself, has been wasted while the law took its devious and cumbersome way. The fourth measure to be voted upon, therefore, proposes that any persons accused of any felony, save only that incurring the death penalty, may make his plea of guilty or not guilty in the justice court, if he so elects, and thereby cut the matter short. If pleading guilty, the offender would be certified to the Superior Court immediately for sentence.

These are the four measures, which California voters will pass upon at the polls this November. They commend themselves to every citizen who knows the weakness of our present judicial system, and realizes the desperate need there is for an effective curb upon the growing menace of crime.

STUDENT PRINTER LOSES DAMAGE SUIT

Damages were denied William E. Frye, student printer, who sued J. B. Underwood former instructor in the Grass Valley high school to recover $50,000 as the result of an accident in which three fingers of Frye's were crushed in a platen press. The decision was rendered by Judge Raglan Tuttle, who held there was no neglignce on the part of Underwood. The court strongly recommended that the school board take out group insurance to cover accidents of this kind, and also injuries which result from football and other games on the school grounds which form part of the educational program of the schools.

Attorney for the plaintiff was Judge Oscar Winburn, of Grass Valley. The defendant was represented by Attorneys W. E. Wright and Robert Tharp.

MORE FIRE PROTECTION FOR BUSINESS STREETS

Two newer types of fire hydrants have been placed at the corners of Pine and Broad streets, one to replace an old hydrant at Schreiber's corner, and another on Pine street of the same efficient type. The latter one was moved away some years ago.

The city council has ordered the hydrants to be painted in aluminum paint, a bright color that lasts, and it is believed attracts more attention on the part of motorists than the old dull red color.

Councilman Jim Penrose, chairman of the public safety and health committee, is directing these new changes, and Herb Hallet, superintendent of pubilc utilities, is making the installations.

BURGLARY SUSPECT BAIL FIXED AT $1500

Lee Wyatt, brought before Judge Winburn in the justice court in Grass Valley Wednesday morning on a charge of attempted burglary, was held to answer in the superior court. His bail was fixed at $1500. He was committed to the custody of the sheriff in default of bail.

Wyatt was caught entering the dry house of the Idaho-Maryland mine at ten minutes to twelve on Saturday night, while the men were on shift and had left their clothes hanging there.

ALL NIGHT SATURDAY DANCES AT YOU BET

The popular new dance hall, at You Bet, is drawing capacity houses every Saturday night and among the patrons will be found dance enthusiasts from many near-by towns and resorts. Last Saturday night the crowd of dancers who enjoyed the music of Ken E. Gray's Six Mad Music Masters was unusually large, and to add to the pleasure of the evening free balloons, confetti and serpentine were generously distributed. Door prizes also were given out, and a prize waltz attracted intense interest.

Owing to the demand for longer hours of dancing, the management has arranged to keep open house every Saturday night until daylight. This schedule will start with the dance this Saturday evening. The custom of giving door prizes, free balloons, confetti and serpentine will be a feature every week. The Grand Door Prize this week will be furnished by McClard the Druggist, of Grass Valley.

The road leading to You Bet, turns off the Grass Valley-Colfax highway, just east of Peardale and this week has been well marked with road signs.

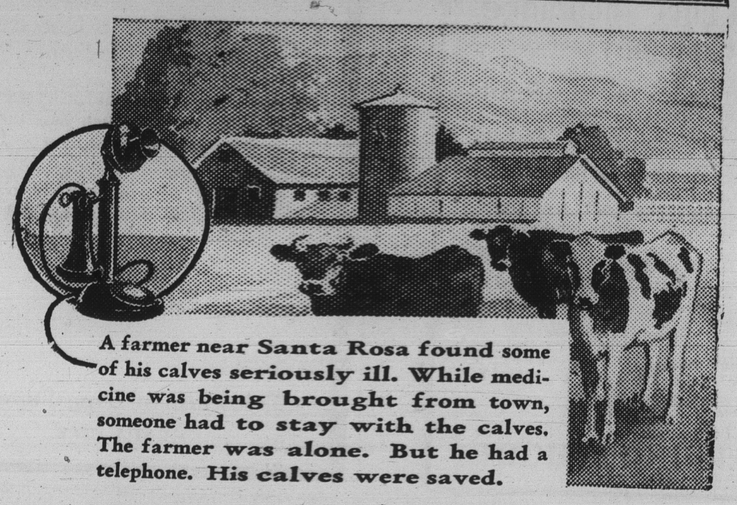
NIEL H. FRANKLIN, OWNER



A farmer near Santa Rosa found some of his calves seriously ill. While medicine was being brought from town, someone had to stay with the calves. The farmer was alone. But he had a telephone. His calves were saved.

A FARMER never knows what emergency may arise, but he does know that farm life creates plenty of emergencies. A single telephone call may be worth more to you than your service costs in a year or even a lifetime.

A. M. HOLMES

Nevada County Coroner—Offices in Nevada City and Grass Valley

Perhaps never before in the history of the county have the people given so much thought to the caliber of the man who will hold public office as well as their proved personal attributes and capabilities that would indicate how well they would hold their respective offices after being selected. This is true of the people of Nevada county, as it is of the nation. A. H. Holmes's constructive administration of his own private affairs and business has gained him a hearty regard and the respect of his colleagues, because his career as a citizen has been helpful and conducted in a sound and business-like manner. He has been indefatigable in his efforts to give the interests of his fellow citizens the best that is in him and his policies have been so manifestly honest and above board that he has won the plaudits of all, regardless of partisanship. It is such men who merit well at election time, for the day has passed when men are selected for office as a personal favor.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Causes—The Excessive use of meat is only one of the leading causes, and to this may be added habitual overeating together with the use of seasonings and condiments. An exciting cause is exposure to cold.

Treatment — The only possible way to effect a cure is to take Chinese Herbs to purify the blood. The patient should adhere to a strict diet; then allow the various excretory organs to do their legitimate work, and prevent a rapid break-down of the kidneys. Start taking Chinese Herbs to remove the cause of the trouble and to build up the kidneys. Take daily as much water hot or cold, as can be taken with comfort, or lemonade (unsweetened), if preferred. This will help to wash out the kidneys and aid in removing broken down tissues. The water should be soft and pure. Next endeavor to stimulate the skin to greater activity; this will help the kidneys. If the patient is strong enough, a good sweat bath daily is a benefit. The character of the diet is of the greatest importance.. Let the diet consist largely of fresh fruits mostly of the subacid varities. Fresh ripe oranges are fine, these to be taken on an empty stomach. Also sun-dried fruits, such as apricots, peaches, prunes, dates, figs, etc. Use no sugar or starches with the fruits.

ALLEGHANY TO DEDICATE NEW THEATER, HALL

Alleghany is celebrating tomorrow evening with a picture show and a dance in its brand new community hall, just completed by George Calanan and Edward McClosky of this city. Ever since the big fire, which razed the business portion of Alleghany over a year ago, the community has suffered from lack of a meeting place.

That has now been remedied with a corrugated iron building, 40 by 75 feet, equipped with a modern talkie machine. The best moving pictures will be shown. The interior of the new hall is finished in celotex and fibre board and provided with seats that can be moved to permit dancing on an excellent pine floor.

This is the hall the ladies of Alleghany will dedicate tomorrow (Saturday) night. A great throng is anticipated from Grass Valley, Nevada City, Forest, North San Juan, Downieville and all communities along the Ridge. In the new building pictures shows will be given three times a week.

Quartz and Placer location blanks for sale at Nugget Office.

SCOUTS SIGNING UP FOR PAHATSI

Registrations for Scout camp at Kilborn Lake, starting July 8th, are ahead of last years registrations at this time and should applications come in as usual, camp will set a record for attendance.

Few realize that the United States is seeing a migration when summer comes and scouts go to camp. It is the largest camping organization and each year sends about one-third of a million on a trek to the outdoors. Through preparations to safe guard the health of the scout, is the experience of the Boy Scouts of America.

As an Eagle Scout and experienced camper puts it. "A vacation in the heat of the Sierras, during which over night trips to nearby peaks will be enjoyed, is the trip awaiting scouts and scouters, during the month of July. Pahatsi has an ideal location on the shores of the beautiful and picturesque Kilborn Lake. Here a scout will have the opportunity to mix with other boys of his own age and have many a good time under competent supervision.

Three new cement tent platforms and the oil house floor were built last week and as camp improvements in preparation for the coming season by a group of 20 from Auburn and two from Roseville. The advance guard of scouts will go to camp Thursday to erect tents and place camp in readiness for the Cubs. "Pop" Holmes plans, with some scout help, to make a new boat this year. These are only a few of the other changes and improvements that will greet campers and visitors.

STRIKE REPORTED AT NOR. DIVIDE, NEVADA

TONOPAH, Nev., June 25.—Production has begun from the new Clark property in the North Divide area, two miles north of Tonopah, where a massive orebody is being developed at surface. Ore reported averaging around $20 per ton is being trucked to the Olson mill at Goldfield, which has been reconditioned and its capacity increased from 20 to 25 tons per day.

The ledge is claimed to be 20 feet wide, and has been traced for several hundred feet. The strike apparently ranks among the most important made in Nevada in several years.

Mr. and Mrs. James Brown were pleasantly surprised Saturday evening by friends in honor of Mrs. Brown's birthday. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Keehn, and Mr. Art Davis.

Harley Leete Jr., who has been visiting Dean Johnson at Ione, Amador county, for the past week, will return to Nevada City tomorrow. Dean will return with him and be a guest at the Leete home for a week or so.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cole, of Washington, were Nevada City visitors Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Cole have just sold an unusually beautiful gold specimen to Dr. Carl Jones of Grass Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Clemo are enjoying a motor trip in the Pacific Northwest and Canada.

Miss Annie G. Dean, of Albion, Michigan, is visiting Mrs. James Rice at her home on Piety Hill and will remain with her a week or more. Miss Dean is enjoying a three months trip in California and will not return to her home until the Fall. She plans to visit Mrs. Rice again before her return home.

Miss Helen Calanan, teacher in the San Francisco schools, is spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Calanan.

Mr. and Mrs. James Rice and Miss Annie Dean, who is visiting here, took a trip to Lake Tahoe on Wednesday. They drove around the lake and visited several of the resorts. Miss Dean, who is from Michigan, was greatly charmed with the lake and its environs and counts it one of the most beautiful of her trips in California.

Edd Addington left Sunday for Feather Falls, Butte county, on a business and pleasure trip. He was accompanied by Arthur Gilkey, city electrician of Roseville.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hilton and two children, of Gold Run, were Saturday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edd Addington.

PIEDMONT GIRLS PLAY PETER PAN

Tuesday afternoon Piedmont Camp Fire Girls at Camp.... Augusta, entertained a large group of girls, counselors, advisors, and invited guests with the pageant "Peter Pan."

A natural theatre had been selected on a wooded stream where a tiny pool was the center of the stage, the different characters were concealed in low mounds, coming out to act their parts and passing across to a hidden spot to the west. Across the tiny stream the audience was seated in a semi-circle.

Songs and a violin solo greeted the arrival of the guests. As the girls carried out the pageant it seemed almost real. The pirates, Peter Pan and his wood nymphs, the Indians led by Tiger Lily, the coming of beautiful little Gwendolyn, the different skirmishes of Peter Pan and the happy conclusion entranced the audience throughout.

Miss Landis, a young girl in the camp, prepared and directed the pageant and was much praised for her direction.

Several guests were invited to the 1 o'clock lunch and upon the appearance of O. D. Woodman, of Nevada City, who is always ready and willing to assist, they sang a song of greeting to him.

Among the invited guests were Mesdames Gordon Bettles, Belle Douglas, Leland Smith, R. J. Bennetts, Henry Daniels, Lester Gregory, Karl Kopp, and sister, Louie Kopp and son, Joseph Cereseto and son, James Penrose, Howard Penrose and son, Ed Martine, Misses Betty Gaylord, Helen Mayer, Elizabeth Richards, Helen Hoeger, Lois Eden and Fritz Pitz.

Sixty-eight girls left for their homes Wednesday morning and a small group came up during the afternoon.

Washington Digest

National Topics Interpreted
by William Bruckart

Washington.—Prior to and since adjournment of the second session of the Roosevelt congress, I have tried to collect for these columns a composite picture of opinion among our lawmakers as to where this New Deal in government is headed. Oftimes I have reported here that I was unable to comprehend many phases of the New Deal because there has been so much confusion. It has been kaleidoscopic in its character from the start, but there had been indications that a second session of congress and Presidential messages would serve to clarify the situation. Such, however, has not been the case, insofar as my humble ability to understand it is concerned.

Where Is New Deal Headed?

To demonstrate more clearly what I mean, let me relate that I have sought the views of a great many members of congress and, with one or two exceptions, the replies to my questions were divided into two classes. If the representative or senator was a devout administration supporter, the answer was that we are headed for greater human happiness on the basis of a planned national life. If the one to whom the questions were directed were a Republican or a Democrat who is unwilling to swallow academic theories in accordance with the doctor's prescription, the answer almost invariably was: "I don't know." Many of them expressed the belief that there was merit in much of the New Deal program, but its ultimate end was a matter which they declared they could not now foresee.

I also have examined again many of the letters that I have received from readers of these columns since the New Deal came into operation, but they fail to provide a consensus as to whether the writers of them have formed conclusions as to direction.

It is to be recalled further that Mr. Roosevelt, in submitting legislative proposals to either of the two sessions of congress, has said with absolute frankness that his program, then being offered, contained experimental features. With equal frankness and courage, he stated in each instance that if the experiments failed, he would be among the first to admit the fact. Such was his attitude regarding the gigantic agricultural adjustment program with all of his various policies for limitation of production and enforced control of surplus. But since the President has not said yet that any of these have failed, it can only be concluded that he is satisfied with the progress being made.

Opponents of the New Deal and doubting Thomases are pointing the finger of scorn more and more to these experiments, and I am informed by observers who have been visiting various sections of the country that there is dissatisfaction in considerable volume concerning the results thus far accomplished.

From industrial communities and the areas where the bulk of the income taxes are collected by the government, I hear the question: "Who is going to pay for all of this?"

There can be no doubt that this question of "who is going to pay" will become paramount at a later date than it is now. But the leaders of the New Deal have gone no further to this date than to say that a restored prosperity will make the payments easy. And the truth of their statements, of course, cannot be disputed.

Fail to Pin Tugwell

Many observers in Washington had thought when the President insisted on senate confirmation of his nomination of Professor Tugwell to be undersecretary of agriculture, there would be an exposition of the New Deal objectives. Such, however, was not the case. Of course, the senate committee hearing where Professor Tugwell was questioned turned out to be an abortive thing, but still it had been expected there would be something that would add to the sum of public understanding of the destination sought. Senator Smith of South Carolina, Democratic chairman of the committee and a staunch opponent of Professor Tugwell, tried to pin the professor down to statements that would indicate what the so-called head of the brain trust thought the government is doing respecting agriculture. So did Senator Byrd, a Virginia Democrat. Neither succeeded.

Professor Tugwell was surprised at the questions asked him. He thought the committee ought to take his "word" without reservation. He assured the senators of his unqualified support of the Constitution of the United States, but afterward observers here voiced their inability to reconcile that assertion with the professor's earlier writings to the effect that he could not understand "the unreasoning, almost hysterical attachment of some Americans for the Constitution." Notwithstanding this, the committee went right ahead and voted a favorable report to the senate on the professor's nomination. Several Washington correspondents asserted in dispatches to their newspapers, however, that administration whips had been cracking close to the backs of numerous senators.

It was quite apparent throughout the hearing on the professor's nomination that many of the Democrats and, of course, all of the Republicans were anxious to gain a better understanding of the New Deal objective. In that effort, they failed to get to first base. Mr. Tugwell advocated a planned national economy up to a certain point, but I was told by senators after the hearing that they did not know what that point was. Tugwell stressed the necessity for having a governmental control of the various factors that affect business—control of crops being one of them—because human happiness required such action, but as far as I was able to understand his statements, he did not clarify much of the confusion and the mystery that surrounds the New Deal plans.

So, all that remains is a hope that Mr. Roosevelt is on the right track and that his policies will lead to that human happiness about which his advisers speak.

Ignores Critics

Another trend, or some think it is a trend, that is evident in the management of affairs by President Roosevelt is an apparent willingness on the part of the White House to pay less and less attention to critics. That is, many observers lately have called attention to an indication that Mr. Roosevelt is willing to ignore more and more of the attacks on his administration. He is not the type, of course, who will make a face at his critics. He is a master politician, and keen politicians never do such things. But when one examines the statements and information that is passed out from the White House in these days and those forthcoming, say, six months ago, the present-day grist is much more, if not entirely, free from "answers" to critics. And this is happening in a period when there is obviously very much more criticism than in the earlier days of the administration.

Let me supply a basis of comparison: When the airmail contracts were cancelled, Col. Charles Lindbergh sent a telegram to the President, complaining about the act. The colonel's air transportation company made the message public before it was laid on the President's desk, or so Stephen Early, one of the President's secretaries, said. After the message appeared in the newspapers, Mr. Early spoke at length to the newspaper correspondents about the colonel's "discourtesy" in making the message public. Some six months later, Clarence Darrow, the Chicago attorney, and the board of review of NRA affairs which he headed, let loose a blast on NRA that constituted a most vitriolic criticism of this phase of the New Deal. The President, himself, has said almost nothing about the Darrow board criticism. True, General Johnson replied in his usual bombastic way, but that was General Johnson and not the White House.

Criticism has been made in congress of the Agricultural Adjustment administration. Attacks on this have come also from the outside. But there has been no reply from the President, the top of the administration. Money policies have been under attack, as have been some of the relief measures which seem to some to hint of government-owned factories soon. These attacks have been allowed, however, to spend themselves in the thin air.

The President is going to Hawai for vacation. That fact, of course, is generally known. But there is one feature of the trip that has not been generally circulated. Arrangements for the trip call for virtual elimination of news correspondents from the picture of the President's vacation. That is almost without precedent. Washington correspondents are wailing and gnashing teeth all over the place, because that would be a gorgeous trip for those assigned to write news about the President. Usually, fifteen or twenty writers accompany the President everywhere he travels. It irks the correspondents, personally, but it seems to be irking some of the great newspapers more because they are taking the view that it constitutes censorship by the President.

The arrangements for the Hawaiian trip are a little hard to understand. They appear to be a right-about-face on the part of the administration. This writer has been in Washington almost twenty years and never in that time have the facilities made available for the correspondents at the White House been greater than under Mr. Roosevelt's direction. He has courted a friendly press at all times. Everything that was necessary for the newspaper writers was theirs to command.

Now, however, the President is traveling on a naval cruiser, and he does not even have his own secretaries with him. He has permitted only three correspondents to accompany him on the trip, and they must remain on another naval boat which has been ordered to stay at least three miles away from his ship. Those three writers will have no contact except by radio, and their press services must supply the news, therefore, to the whole country, and the world.

In defense of the action, it can be said officially that Mr. Roosevelt would not obtain complete rest in any other manner. He has been through a grind this past winter. But that fact has not satisfied the writers.

Chic Plaid or Dotted Sports Linens

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

A CRAZE for linen is on. Any fabric, just so its linen, seems to be the idea when it comes to material for this summer's sports, afternoon, and even formal evening costumes. Add accessories to the list, for the summer style program is largely made up of hats, shoes, gloves, pocketbooks and neckwear which are fashioned of linen ranging from finest and sheerest of handkerchief linen to sturdy linens which make the handsomest suitings imaginable.

It's the actual seeing of these marvelous linens which makes one appreciate and realize the why and the wherefore of the fuss and furore made over them. The new plaided and checked, dotted and otherwise patterned soft Irish linens "get you" the moment you glimpse them. That good-looking are they, the smart set are having their travel and about-town and clubhouse costumes tailored of these materials.

As for beach and tennis, golf and general sports wear, these linens—well, words fail us. However, here are three illustrations which will get the message across better than anything that might be said or written on the subject.

If you are in the class of enthusiasts which go in for tennis and golf, beach sports, hiking and general outdoor sports and leisure pastimes no need telling you that "shorts" are the order of the day. It is our personal opinion that no trio of shorts costumes could be more attractive if they tried than the group here pictured.

Pleated shorts turn a clever trick, for they give every appearance of a smart-fashioned short skirt, which makes them eligible to many an occasion where the more simply constructed shorts might seem out of place. The pleated shorts on the seated figure in the illustration are very attractively styled. The stunning blouse with its chic high collar and its modish side fastening and its intriguing sleeves is fashioned of a soft Irish linen which is plaided in blue. The pleated shorts are bright red which makes a very patriotic coloring, indeed, for this good-looking sports costume.

The shorts to the left are also made of blue and white Irish plaid linen, only the plaids are larger than for the blouse just described. Navy blue buttons and a navy blue eton collar are good color accents. Inverted pleats both in front and back insure perfect freedom. The fashionable high neckline in front and a completely bare back follow along lines of newest daytime decolletage, a good idea for sun tanning.

The Irish linen which fashions the beach shorts to the right in the group is of the loose-weave uncrushable type which gives such entire satisfaction in the wearing on hot summer days for rough-and-tumble frolic in the sands. It is backless with a graceful V-line front neckline, which adopts small revers so that if one wants to slip on a jacket after one's sun bath, the costume is quite complete.

SHOW SHORT SKIRT WITH SUMMER GARB

There are rumors to the effect that as summer advances, street frocks and suits will be slightly shorter, so that one must get after calves and ankles that have thickened.

It is possible to buy anklets of rubber that will reduce fatty accumulations.

They can be worn at night. Certain exercises are helpful—high kicking, running up stairs, lifting up on the toes. Massage will take off inches if it is vigorous.

Make a bracelet of the hands, twist and turn and dig in. Rub up and down with the flattened thumb. During the treatment keep the skin surface covered with borated talcum.

Travel Accessories Best Matching All Clothes

If you are going on a trip and haven't room in your bags to pack several pairs of evening slippers and an extra wrap, take along something that will blend with each formal gown which you intend to wear.

If one of your frocks is black and another is blue, pale green or some other pastel shade, black slippers and a black wrap will go with each dress.

Brown satin pumps and a brown wrap will blend with almost everything except black. They're very nice with pink and good with silver and gold.

Seersucker Raincoats

Checked seersucker is being used to fashion many popular raincoats. Some of them are made in a sleeveless style with cape tops. Matching umbrellas and hats complete these ensembles.

Velvet for Summer

Black velvet and white pique are being featured in one important eastern summer collection of hats. The velvet appears in crowns, brim facings, flowers, belts and pipings.

NEW MILLINERY

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Here's two of the latest in distinctive millinery. For the very good-looking model at the top the designer makes a pirate's cap drape of vel piquante which is a multi-colored striped velvet which made its debut this season, and uses it for the crown of this handsome wide-brimmed navy blue straw. The colors are red, blue, navy, yellow and white. The effect is striking and novel. The new straws are often cellulose and the straw vote is "yes" to the stunning model below in the picture. The high-luster effect which is now so very fashionable in blacks is sustained by a trimming of wide cellulose ribbon. Worn also are rayon mesh gloves with cellulose ribbon cuffs which together with the chapeau makes a stunning ensemble, which was much-admired during a recent exhibition of man-made materials held recently in New York by the Fashion Group of that city.

BEDTIME STORY FOR CHILDREN

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

JENNY WREN'S BIG COUSIN

PETER RABBIT never will forget his surprise when Jenny Wren asked him one morning if he had seen anything of her big cousin. Peter hesitated. As a matter of fact he couldn't think of any big cousin of Jenny Wren. All the cousins Peter knew anything about were very near Jenny's own size.

Now Jenny Wren is one of the most impatient small persons in the world. "Well, well, well, Peter, have you lost your tongue?" she chattered. "Can't you answer a simple question without taking all day about it? Have you seen anything of my big cousin?"

"You needn't be so cross about it if I am slow," replied Peter. "I'm just trying to think who your big cousin is. I guess, to be quite honest, I don't know him."

"Don't know him! Don't know him!" sputtered Jenny. "Of course you know him. You can't help but know him. I mean Brownie the Thrasher."

In his surprise, Peter fairly jumped right off the ground. "What's that?" he exclaimed. "Since when was Brownie the Thrasher related to the Wren family?"

"Ever since there have been any Wrens and Thrashers," retorted Jenny. "Brownie belongs to one branch of the family and I belong to another, and that makes him my second cousin. It certainly is surprising how little some folks know."

"But I have always supposed he belonged to the Thrush family," protested Peter. "He certainly looks like a Thrush."

"Looking like one doesn't make him one," snapped Jenny. "By this time you ought to have learned that you never can judge anybody just by looks. It always makes me provoked to hear Brownie called the Brown Thrush. There isn't a drop of Thrush blood in him. But you haven't answered my question yet, Peter Rabbit; I want to know if he's here yet."

"Yes," said Peter. "I saw him yesterday on the edge of the Old Pasture. He was fussing about in the bushes and on the ground and jerking that long tail of his up and down and sidewise as if he didn't know what to do with it. I've never seen anybody twitch his tail around the way he does."

Jenny Wren giggled. "That's just like him," said she. "It is because he thrashes his tail around so much that he is called the Thrasher. I suppose he was wearing his new spring suit."

"I don't know whether or not it was new, but it was mighty good looking," replied Peter. "I just love that beautiful reddish brown of his back, wings and tail, and it certainly does set off his white and buff waistcoat with its dark streaks and spots. You must admit that anyone seeing him dressed so like the Thrushes is to be excused for thinking him a Thrush."

QUESTION BOX
By ED WYNN... The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am a poor woman and sell doughnuts for a living. I charge three cents apiece for the doughnuts. One man says he will buy a dozen doughnuts every day if I will take off one cent from the price of each doughnut, for the hole. I can't afford to sell them cheaper than three cents and would like him for a customer. What shall I do?

Sincerely,
OLIVE OYLE.

Answer—The next time you see him tell him you have decided to give him one cent for each hole when he returns the holes.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am in love with a young lady and I thought she loved me too. Last night I called at her house and her sister told me my girl was not at home. I happened to look on the rack in the hall and I saw my girl's hat hanging there, so I knew she was home. I never want to see her again. Am I right?

Sincerely,
BOB O. LINK.

Answer—You are acting silly. Because you saw her hat in the hall you say she must have been home. In that case, if you saw your girl's stockings in the wash you'd swear she was in the laundry.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

My father told me that a "window" and a "widow" were just the same. How can that be?

Yours truly,
FRANK LEE SPEAKING.

Answer—Your father's advice is very good. He means that when you get near either of them, you want to look out.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

A girl friend of mine was married yesterday and of course I went to the wedding. Some relatives brought their baby to the wedding and all during the ceremony the baby cried. It seemed to spoil the whole thing. I expect to be married very shortly and I want to know how I can keep the guests from bringing babies to the wedding. What shall I do?

Sincerely,
N. GAGED.

Answer—When you have your wedding invitations printed just have printed in one corner of the invitations—"No Babies Expected."

SOME GOOD DRINKS

WHEN the weather is either unseasonably hot or too cool we need, some days, a chilling, tinkling drink and the next a hot one. A delightful drink that will appeal to nearly all tastes is the following fruit drink:

Fruit Iced Tea.

Make one cup of strong tea, using two or three teaspoons of the tea to a cupful of boiling water. Let it stand five minutes to steep, then chill. Squeeze the juice of four lemons, three oranges and add enough sugar to sweeten. Chill with plenty of ice, add a half gallon of water and serve with thin slices of orange and lemon floating on the glass.

Ginger Ale Cream.

Serve ice cream in tall glasses, fill up with ginger ale.

Chocolate Ice Cream Soda.

Into a tumbler put a small cone of ice cream, pour over this two tablespoons of chocolate sirup and fill the glass with chilled soda water drawn from a syphon.

Mulled Cider.

Put one quart of sweet cider into a saucepan. Add one small stick of cinnamon broken into pieces, one-half teaspoon of whole allspice, six whole cloves and one small piece of ginger root. Bring to the boiling point, let boil three minutes. Skim and turn into a hot stone pitcher, serve hot in small steins. Hot gingerbread, snappy cheese mixed with rich cream, makes a palatable luncheon with a stein of cider.

Delicious Punch.

Prepare a sirup of one cup of sugar, one-half cup of water, cook until it spins a thread; pour the sirup over three beaten egg whites and add slowly to one quart of freshly made english breakfast tea infusion which has been chilled; add this mixture to one quart of lemon flavored ice cream and mix thoroughly; turn into a freezer and freeze to a mush. Serve from a punch bowl in tall thin glasses.

Ginger Ale Cobbler.

Fill soda water glasses half full of finely crushed ice, add one slice of pineapple (the small size), then fill with ginger ale. Serve at once.

Ensemble for Beach

Ant Army at Work

There is a South American ant which proceeds to a cocoa plantation in army formation. Each insect stands on a leaf and slowly and carefully cuts out an almost perfect circle, and back against they march in procession, each with the circle of leaf over the head like an umbrella. Back to their home, the ants masticate the leaf pieces and place them in prepared beds. A peculiar fungus soon grows up in these gardens upon which the ants feed, seemingly their only food.

Dentistry for the Alligator

THIS dentist, Carl Link, would be out of luck if Pontchartrain Billy were to shut his mouth in the middle of his annual dental work. The one hundred and seventy-five-year-old patriarch of the Los Angeles Alligator farm has his valuable molars watched with more care than some humans and as a result will probably live to snap at more than one future generation of visitors.
